

FEW STUDENTS WANT GERMAN

Light Demand in District Schools—Reintroduction Up to Ballou.

Lack of demand for the German language in Washington high schools, which caused its teaching being dropped from the curriculum at Business High School before the world war, will make its resumption unnecessary when the high school reopens in September, it was said last night by school authorities.

It was regarded as improbable that the principals would take the matter into their own hands, and put German back into the schools without consulting the Superintendent of Schools or the Board of Education before the schools open.

Several high school principals are working on plans for reorganization of the schools in preparation for September. None have considered the reinstallation of German in the curriculum. This will be one of the problems for Dr. F. W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, to solve when he returns from his vacation.

Would-be Citizen Defines Republic As "Stuff to Eat"

New York, July 16.—An Italian who aspired to American citizenship saw his hopes go glimmering today when Supreme Court Justice Leonard A. Gleicher refused to accept his definition of a republic as "something to eat."

"What kind of spices would you use with it?" the Justice asked the candidate.

"I don't know," came the reply.

"Well, step aside," Justice Gleicher instructed him. "I hardly think you will do as a citizen of this great republic."

Workman Sues for $35,000.

Amos Stoll, steel worker, filed suit in the District Supreme Court yesterday for $35,000 damages against the Washington Steel and Ordnance Company of Giesboro Point, D. C. Stoll declares that he was permanently injured on July 9, 1919, by falling from a platform.

Suit Wins Auto and One Cent.

A verdict of 1 cent damages and possession of an automobile valued at $1,000 was awarded William F. Thyson, receiver of firm of O. H. Gore and Company, bankrupt brokers, yesterday, by Justice Siddons in Circuit Court.

THIS SIGN SAVES CALIFORNIA GROCER DEALER MANY DOLLARS

To those hard-to-please customers who are as "popular" on the Pacific Coast as they are in the East, this sign is a warning.

Maryland Auto Drivers Pay $2,386 Fines in Week

Hagerstown, Md., July 16.—The counties of Maryland broke all records for the present year in reporting fines for motor vehicle violations in the State for the past week.

A total of $1,178 was collected from residents of the counties and $1,208 from the city of Baltimore.

Rattlesnake, 56 Inches Long, Killed.

Romney, W. Va., July 16.—C. O. McDonald and his brother, Harry, killed a rare rattlesnake in the harvest field. It was yellow, fifty-six inches in length, and had twelve rattles and a button.

Cumberland Boy Killed Under Loaded Coal Car

Cumberland, Md., July 16.—John F. Mooney, aged 19, son of Andrew Mooney, was fatally hurt yesterday when hurled beneath the wheels of a loaded coal car at the Baltimore and Ohio tipples here. He was standing on an empty car when a loaded car became released and drifted into it. The impact threw him off the car under the wheels of the loaded car. He lived several hours after being removed to Allegheny Hospital.

Dealers in western Canadian lands have estimated 40,000 land seekers, 35,000 of whom will become settlers will migrate there from the United States in the next three months.

BOSTON DRIEST CITY IN NATION

Kramer Finds New York Wettest With 700 Drink Resorts.

Boston is the driest city in the United States and New York the wettest, Federal Prohibition Commissioner Kramer said yesterday.

"Probably there are 700 places in New York where the prohibition law is being violated," said Kramer. "This shows a big success for the prohibition law, however. New York used to have 11,000 saloons."

"Boston," said Kramer, "is probably as near a perfect 100 per cent dry city as there is in the United States."

"Partial prohibition or the proposal to permit the use of light wines and beer never will be a success in the United States, nor anywhere else, in my opinion. The minute partial prohibition is permitted, advantage will be taken of the concession to sell strong liquor on the sly."

"Prohibition so far has achieved as much of a success as could have been hoped in the United States." "Just now," he said, "we are experiencing trouble in devising an airtight system of permits for purchase and sale of liquor for non-beverage purposes. Some of our permits have been fraudulently changed to permit purchase or greater amounts of liquor than intended."

Cows Get Jag On Moonshine; Result Is Raid

Durham, N. C., July 16.—Two cows acting peculiarly led to the capture of a large blockade still in operation near here yesterday. The owner of the cows called the veterinary, who pronounced the case drunk. On investigating, the sheriff located the still, and destroyed a large quantity of whisky.

Discrepancies were noted in accounts given by Federal officers regarding the killing.

Examinations of the wound indicates that Thomas was shot from the rear. The officers say Thomas fired one shot at them and that seven were fired in the direction of the man. They did not know that they had killed a man until late yesterday, when the body of Thomas was found.

Herald Salesmanship Club Campaign

Success or Failure

Wouldn't it be a matter of supreme regret if, after the Campaign, you found that you missed the Grand Capital Prize, or one of the Big Automobiles by just a handful of credits?

We want to impress you with the vital importance of keeping up the "lick" to the finish. Don't slow up now. And by all means, don't elect yourself a prize winner and complacently relinquish your interest in securing more credits — you may need 'em. Maybe some hustling member may outstrip you in the race and win by a few credits — the very credits you could have had, but which you failed to get because you were overconfident.

Remember, only one member can win the $6000 Home offered as the Grand Capital Prize, and only six others can win the Six Big Motor Cars.

Do you think you have enough credits to capture one of these magnificent prizes? That is the logical question to ask yourself. We don't want to discourage you and make you feel that you haven't any chance at all, only to warn you against being too overconfident. A wise rule to follow is the rule of "Safety First." Turn in as many subscriptions as you possibly can, and build up your pile of credits high enough to keep the other fellow from overtopping you.

You want to win. You must win—your friends have "pinned their faith" to YOU. They've got tons of volcanic "hurrahs" stored ready to shout out when you win. No member wants to face the prospect of condolence, when friends come up and gloomily say: "Awfully sorry you didn't win — I was sure you would — I sure whooped things up for you," etc. No, that wouldn't do.

You must be a WINNER. And, to be a WINNER YOU MUST WORK NOW and until the close of the Campaign with all your might. Make today "Over the Top" day. The Polls will close at Eleven Tonight. After regrets will be of no avail.
